Some very strange things have been happening in my laboratory lately.

I'm not sure exactly what's going on, but...

Last night a mysterious package arrived with a computer disk.

All I found was a random set of images.

Unfortunately when I looked at the disk...

I need you to piece together what's been happening in my laboratory.

I NEED YOUR HELP!!
To aid you, I have included a key describing the instruments in the lab and what they do.

Oh! Because the sound files were corrupt...

It would also help if you could figure out what was being said.

I'm counting on you!

Procedure to contact Dr. Biology

Once you find out what's happening in my lab and with my colleagues, follow these instructions to contact me:

1. Print out the pages

2. Cut the images out, rearrange them, and fill in the dialogue

3. Glue the images onto a separate sheet of paper and color them.

4. Put the finished pages into an envelope.

5. Cut out and glue my address to the front of the envelope:

   Dr. Biology
   School of Life Sciences, LSE 227
   Arizona State University
   Tempe, AZ 85287-4501

6. Mail the letter, and don't forget the stamp!

Don't forget to include your completed top-secret release form so we can publish your findings to the world.
