

ZOMBIE QUIZ (circle correct answers) Date: _____ Name: _____

1. Bees collect nectar from flowers for food, and in doing so, they help pollinate the flowers so they can reproduce. Both the bees and the flowers benefit. This is an example of what type of relationship?
A) Mutualism
B) Commensalism
C) Parasitism
D) Predator/Prey
2. Birds like sparrows build nests in trees. The birds get shelter, and the tree is not harmed. This is an example of what type of relationship?
A) Competition
B) Parasitism
C) Mutualism
D) Commensalism
3. Two trees grow close together, fighting for sunlight and water. This is an example of what type of relationship?
A) Predator/Prey
B) Mutualism
C) Competition
D) Commensalism
4. A beef tapeworm lives inside a cow. This tapeworm was feeding on nutrients from the cow. This is an example of what type of relationship?
A) Parasitism
B) Mutualism
C) Predator/Prey
D) Commensalism
5. Oxpecker birds eat insects off rhinos. The birds get food, and the rhino may stay cleaner. Both benefit. This is an example of what type of relationship?
A) Competition
B) Commensalism
C) Mutualism
D) Parasitism

6. Golden jackals follow tigers and eat leftover food from their kills. The tiger doesn't lose anything, and the jackal gets a meal. This is an example of what type of relationship?
 - A) Mutualism
 - B) Commensalism
 - C) Predator/Prey
 - D) Parasitism
7. Woodpeckers and squirrels both want the same tree hollow to build a nest. This is an example of what type of relationship?
 - A) Parasitism
 - B) Commensalism
 - C) Mutualism
 - D) Competition
8. Mistletoe grows on trees and takes water and nutrients from them, often hurting the tree. This is an example of what type of relationship?
 - A) Predator/Prey
 - B) Mutualism
 - C) Parasitism
 - D) Commensalism
9. A Venus flytrap catches and eats insects to get nutrients. This is an example of what type of relationship?
 - A) Parasitism
 - B) Predator/Prey
 - C) Mutualism
 - D) Competition
10. Orcas hunt and eat great white sharks, often targeting their livers. This is an example of what type of relationship?
 - A) Predator/Prey
 - B) Commensalism
 - C) Competition
 - D) Parasitism